Contractor A. B. Lane and a gang of carpenters began this morning the work of lowering the balcony at the Park theatre. In order better to facilitate the view of patrons who frequent the gallery, the floor of the upper seat tier is to be dropped 22 inches. To make this change it will be necessary to lower the steel girders which support the gallery in track. It is expected that the work will be completed by Wednesday, although the carpenters will lay off each afternoon and evening while the pictures are being shown. Leopold Nibel, the German artist, who is decorating the theatre, plans to complete the work before Christmas.
